A MARRIAGE IN HARMONY 🎵

Congratulations to Helena De Torres and Guy Shepherd, who were married in a private ceremony surrounded by family and close friends following the 10:30 a.m. service on Sunday, September 20, 2026. Both have shared their musical gifts with Our Savior over the years, Helena as an occasional soloist and Guy as a former music teacher, Praise Team leader, and substitute musician—to name a few roles. May God bless their marriage and their life together in Christ!

LET THERE BE LIGHT...
AND NO MORE MORTGAGE!!!

Member Pat Maahs, who passed away on December 14, 2025, posthumously gifted $203,412 to Our Savior Lutheran Church—a remarkable gift that completely paid off our remaining mortgage loan.

SHOW DOGS OF THE WEEK: MARY & RAUL'S COLLIES

For more than 30 years, we traveled all across the United States showing Collies. We were involved in what is called conformation showing, where dogs are judged on how closely they match the breed standard. For Mary, it wasn't just about winning. She loved everything that came along with showing her dogs—the preparation, the grooming, the traveling, the shows, meeting other people who loved Collies, and most of all, being around her dogs.

Mary first started with the traditional sable-and-white Collie, the kind of Collie most people recognize from Lassie. That was the dog that introduced us to the world of Collies and dog showing. From there, we went on to the tris, which are the black-and-white Collies, and eventually the blues, which have that beautiful silvery, bluish-black coloring.

Mary had very high standards for her dogs. When she had puppies, she would carefully decide which ones met her requirements. Those puppies had the potential to become show dogs, and if one was selected, it would begin its journey on the show circuit. The goal was to eventually have that dog earn its championship.

That meant a lot of time, work, patience, and traveling.

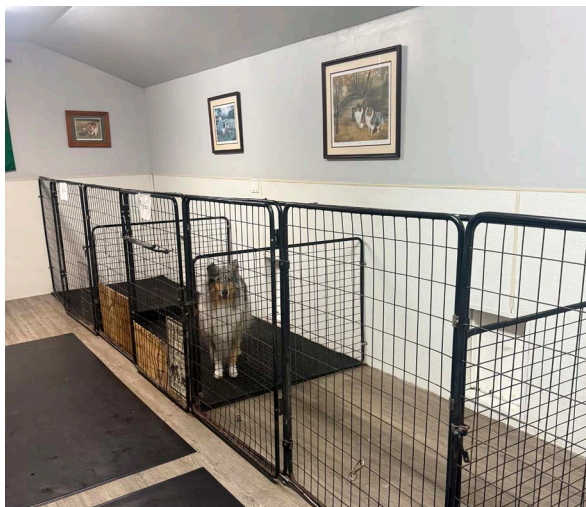

The kids became involved in it too. Our children even participated in junior handling, which gave them the opportunity to show dogs themselves. So, what started as Mary's passion became something that our whole family experienced together.

When I look back now, I realize just how big a part of our life dog showing really was.

At the time, I have to be honest—I was not really a big dog person. Dogs were Mary's thing. I went along with it because Mary loved it, and because the kids enjoyed it too. I supported her because I knew how much happiness the dogs and the shows brought her.

(Cont. →)

All of the collies are related. The two blue collies are the father Diesel (the bigger one of the two) and Harlow. The tris are the son Marco and the mother Ashley (the skinnier of the two tris). Of the four, the two girls still live with Raul. The two boys have been adopted by loving friends.

MARY & RAUL'S COLLIES (CONT.)

Now that Mary has passed away, the dogs have taken on a completely different meaning for me.

When I look at them, I see a connection to Mary.

They remind me of her.

So, I kept the dogs. As you can see the dogs have their own house (pictured above). They prefer their house than coming inside to my house. I have learned to love them, and now they are a part of my life.

PETS OF THE WEEK: SROT FAMILY'S DOGS

Luna is a 4-year-old Shih Tzu mix and is the four-legged daughter of Kelly Srot. She loves belly rubs, sunning in her grandparents' back yard, and puts herself to bed by 9 p.m. Luna is terrified of thunder, lightning, and loud noises. On weekdays, when her Mom heads to work as a preschool teacher, Luna gets dropped off at Grandpa Duane and Grandma Carol's house and spends the day with her Auntie Sky. Sky is a 5-year-old (mostly) Chihuahua-mini pinscher mix. She is the four-legged sister of Kelly and daughter to Carol Reynolds-Srot and Duane Srot. She lives with food allergy sensitivities and must take medication daily, eats homemade food, and feasts only on organic snacks. She never tires of playing fetch and loves when people come to visit (see photo with Pastor Tony on p.11). Mostly, she adores snoozing on the couch with her dad.
